1. Rent receipt

Depending on the type of service the Landlord requires, Home Minders will receive rent on their behalf, and account to them for sums received on a monthly or quarterly basis. The rents are paid to us by standing order, we deduct our monthly fees and expenses and then pay the balance direct into the Landlord's account by electronic banking.

2. Deposit

Home Minders usually collect the deposit paid by the tenant against dilapidations and unpaid bills (normally a sum equivalent to 5 weeks' rent), and lodge it with the Tenancy Deposit Scheme, of which we are members.

Following the advice of the independent inventory clerk at the expiration of the tenancy we will negotiate with the tenant and the Landlord the extent of the tenant's liabilities before settling it in accordance with the Tenancy Deposit Scheme rules. A copy of the check-in and out reports will normally be sent to the Landlord and the tenant and we expect some input from both parties, however we must have the authority to negotiate the final settlement as the timetable under the legislation is short and mandatory.

“Thank you for everything you've done. Cannot recommend Home Minders or your team enough”

3. Inventory, Check-in and Checkout

Home Minders use two independent inventory clerks to undertake all check-ins, checkouts and the preparation of inventories at the beginning of tenancies. It is important that these functions are undertaken independently should there be any form of dispute during or at the end of the tenancy.

The inventory clerk will attend with the tenant at check-in and checkout. Under the terms of the Tenant Fee Act 2019, the cost of the check-in, inventory and checkout are borne by the Landlord. Under the terms of the Act, it is unlawful to charge the tenant any additional fees. This does not apply to company let agreements and non-housing act agreements.

4. Payments on the Landlord's Behalf

Out of rents received, to the extent of funds in our hands, Home Minders will pay and account to the Landlord for:

- a) Any final accounts for utilities such as gas, electricity and water rates
- b) Service charges due
- c) Any insurance premiums. It is important that the Landlord provides details of all insurance policies at the commencement of the letting process
- d) Home Minders will usually retain a small float to cover minor repairs that may occur during the month. We would normally hold £100 in the account for this purpose
- e) We are happy to receive bills and statements addressed directly to Home Minders if that is more convenient for the Landlord.

5. Landlord Statements

At the end of each month or quarter, we prepare a statement of monies received, expenses and deductions etc. The supporting vouchers are held in the Home Minders office. When it comes to completing tax returns, these statements are usually sufficient.

6. Regular Property Visits

On a quarterly basis, we visit the house or flat having made an arrangement with the tenant. We will carry out routine "inspections" and report to the Landlord any repairs or re-instatement which in our opinion are necessary either to the property itself or to its fixtures, fittings and contents during the Tenancy. We will provide photos if we feel the Landlord needs to view something in particular.

7. Maintenance

Either as a result of the quarterly inspection or following a reported incident from the tenant, Home Minders will arrange for all maintenance to be undertaken.

We have a long established team of independent tradesmen that carry out all of the maintenance required. We would always obtain approval from the Landlord for expenditure in excess of £100, and are happy to obtain two quotations for substantial required expenditure.

The maintenance team includes plumbers, electricians, painters and decorators, gardeners, handymen, roofing contractors, white goods repairs and replacement, cleaning contractors, carpet cleaners etc.

8. Compliance

There are a number of legal and regulatory requirements that Landlords must satisfy before renting their property. Home Minders ensure all of these legal and regulatory requirements are in place before a tenancy commences and are kept up to date during the tenancy, and supplied to the tenants:

- a) A working smoke detector on each floor of the property
- b) A working carbon monoxide detector
- c) A current Energy Performance Certificate (EPC)
- d) A gas safety certificate (if your property has gas appliances)
- e) An electrical safety condition report (EICR)
- f) A copy of the latest How to Rent Government guide
- g) The tenancy deposit protection certificate
- h) Prescribed information related to how the deposit is protected

“You can rely on Home Minders to take good care of your house and make sure that the tenants are happy and the house is looked after”

9. Right to Rent Checks

Landlords have a responsibility to restrict illegal immigrants accessing the private rented sector and so must check that a tenant is legally allowed to reside in the UK and hold documentation to prove this. Home Minders ensure this is undertaken.

10. Transfer of Utilities

Home Minders is responsible for informing the utility companies and the local Council of all changes in tenancy. We will submit final meter readings and ensure final bills are settled by the outgoing tenants.

11. Landlord's Insurance

Home Minders recommend that all owners have Landlord's insurance in place to protect them from accidental damage caused by or to the tenants, including fire, appliance malfunction and water damage. Standard owners' contents cover is not sufficient cover for tenanted properties. Home Minders can arrange cover for this and rent guarantee insurance if required.

12. Property Keys

Home Minders always hold two full sets of keys to each property. These are securely signed in and out by any workmen or Home Minders staff that may need them at any time.

13. Empty Property Service

Our management of residential property service does not include (unless otherwise agreed in writing) management from the expiration of a tenancy, or until the property is let for the first time or re-let. We do however offer an Empty Property Service whereby we visit the property every fortnight, monitor the post, pay the utilities, supervise cleaning and gardening. This usually satisfies any insurance requirements that the property is not left unoccupied for more than 28 days.

14. Refurbishment

Home Minders has worked on a number of complete property refurbishments and is happy to oversee any work involved, or organise the refurbishment and manage the project. There is an additional charge for this service dependent on the amount of involvement required.

“Please communicate that we respect Home Minders immensely and that you have gone above and beyond to make our stay here comfortable. We will miss you and the property as we move on.”
